GENERAL RISKS OF TRADING AND INVESTING

We believe it is vitally important that you read and fully understand the following risks of trading and investing:

All securities trading, whether in stocks or other investment vehicles, is speculative in nature and involves significant risk of loss. We encourage our subscribers to invest carefully and to utilize the information available at the websites of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the National Association of Securities Dealers. The NASD has published information on how to invest carefully at its website. We also encourage you to get personal advice from your professional investment advisor and to make independent investigations before acting on information. We do not in any way warrant or guarantee the success of any action you take in reliance on our information.

Past performance is not necessarily indicative of future results. All investments carry risk and all trading decisions of an individual remain the responsibility of that individual. There is no guarantee that systems, indicators, or trading signals will result in profits or that they will not result in losses. All investors are advised to fully understand all risks associated with any kind of trading or investing they choose to do.

Hypothetical or simulated performance is not indicative of future results. Unless specifically noted otherwise, all profit examples provided in our websites and publications are based on hypothetical or simulated trading, which means they are done on paper or electronically based on real market prices at the time the recommendation is disseminated to the subscribers of this service, but without actual money being invested. Also, such examples do not include the costs of subscriptions, commissions, and other fees, or examples of other recommendations as to which there were losses utilizing the timing at the time of the recommendations. Because the trades underlying these examples have not actually been executed, the results may understate or overstate the impact of certain market factors, such as lack of liquidity (discussed below). Simulated trading programs in general are also designed with the benefit of hindsight, which may not be relevant to actual trading. We make no representations or warranties that any account will or is likely to achieve profits like those shown, because hypothetical or simulated performance is not necessarily indicative of future results.

Investall publishes a constructed portfolio based on our recommendations. Your actual results may differ from results reported for the constructed portfolio for many reasons, including, without limitation: (i) performance results for the constructed portfolio do not reflect actual trading commissions that you may incur; (ii) performance results for the constructed portfolio do not account for the impact, if any, of certain market factors, such as lack of liquidity, that may affect your results; (iii) the exchange traded funds chosen for the constructed portfolio may be volatile, and although the “purchase” or “sale” of a security in the constructed portfolio will not be effected in the constructed portfolio until confirmation that the rebalancing alert has been sent to subscribers, slight delivery delays and other factors may cause the price you obtain to potentially differ materially from the price at the time the rebalancing alert was sent out. Past results are not indicative of future performance/results.

Investing involves substantial risk. We do not make any guarantee or other promise as to any results that may be obtained from using the investment information. While past performance presented may be analyzed, past performance should not be considered indicative of future performance. No subscriber should make any investment decision without first consulting his or her own personal financial advisor and conducting his or her own research and due diligence, including carefully reviewing the prospectus and other public filings. To the maximum extent permitted by law, Investall and its affiliates disclaim any and all liability in the event any information, commentary, analysis, opinions, advice and/or recommendations included within the website prove to be inaccurate, incomplete or unreliable, or result in any investment or other losses.

Subscribers may submit questions to Investall directly through the website.
